

Jessica Simpson is taking a break from the music biz....For now, she concentrate on her new VH-1 reality show "The Price of Beauty". The show premiered Monday and will run each week. Jessica says the idea from the show came after she gained a few pounds and the press started calling her fat.

Could the Syringe that killed Michael Jackson end up on the auction block? Supposedly the unidentified dirtbag who somehow obtained the needle and is shopping it around to auction houses in Vegas. He's banking that it'll earn him around $5 Million.

We now know who will play Gargamel in the "Smurfs" movie...Hank Azaria will provide the voice of the Smurf's sworn enemy...So the part will be one of the CG character's in the movie rather than one of the live action roles.

Matt Damon thinks there could be another "Borne" movie, but it'll be done without him. Matt says you could do a prequel with another actor being the first Bourne before the identity got passed on to Matt.